Seller-level configurations

Through this tab, if you have the required privileges, you can add configurations at the seller level which are the same for all the seller's catalogs. Below is an example:

The configurations are listed along with the value, default value type, and updated date. The above configurations are added for all catalogs, however, if the same configuration is added to the catalog, then the catalog-level configuration overrides the seller-level configuration.